

Tech and Trek Conference

Wed. June 19 to Fri. June 21, 2019

Will Richardson
Author
and Educator

The Tech and Trek Conference is an opportunity for all educators (K-Higher Ed) to explore The Mindful Use of Technology, Mobile Technology, Creating High-Impact Student Experiences, and Innovations in Teaching and Learning.

This is an educational technology conference that spans three days and two nights on the beautiful campus of Hiram College. At the conference, you will...

- Form and sustain a collaborative bridge for higher ed and K-12 educators and technologists.
- Participate in an ongoing dialogue between higher ed and K-12 educators and technologists regarding the mindful use of technology.
- Reflect on effective technology in learning abilities.
- Explore the possibilities of mobile technology for learning experiences outside of the traditional classroom.

POTENTIAL SESSIONS

TECH: Augmented and Virtual Realities; Biomimicry; Digital Footprints; Flipped Classroom; Gaming; Global Resources; Photography and Video; MakerSpace; Mindfulness; Google;

TREK: Farming; Hiking; Kayaking; Meditation; Yoga AND MORE!

Pre-conference sessions are available also!

FOR THE LATEST DETAILS VISIT:
ideastream.org/tech-and-trek-conference

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

and hands-on workshop facilitator

This conference is made possible by a joint partnership between Hiram College and ideastream.

REGISTRATION NOW OPEN

ideastream.org/tech-and-trek-conference

COST

Before May 15: $350 for individuals or $1,600 for a group of five

After May 15: $375 for individuals or $1,725 for a group of five

Cost includes:

Three days/two nights in a private room at a campus townhouse (first 100 registrants). Dormitory accommodations for additional registrants.

All meals and beverages.

Conference t-shirt.

Sessions led by dynamic educators and technologists.

Grad credit available for an additional cost.

